

The Smokey Amp is the world's smallest and least expensive guitar amplifier, high quality and made in the USA. It is also the single biggest selling guitar amplifier ever made!

The case is made from a real recycled cigarette pack (brands vary) and despite its small size and affordable price this amp packs a punch in terms of volume with a great raw and funky sound which overdrives as the volume is turned up using your guitar's volume. Using state of the art polycarbonate material this amp sounds clean at normal 'acoustic guitar' volume. Amazing for its small size, which can be easily fit in a guitar case. This amp works just as well with single coil pickups as humbuckers.

The Smokey Amp will also power any 4, 8 or 16 Ω speaker cabinet, including 4x12s, and can even be used on the input of another amp as a fuzz box. All you need is a lead and an electric guitar and you can play for 9 hours on a single 9 volt battery.

Smokey amps are used by such artists as Foo Fighters, Red Hot Chilli Peppers, ZZ Top, Pantera and Los Lobos.

This amp is also a great tool for luthiers and guitar repairers for testing electronics in the workshop. (Simply peel back the sticker and open the cigarette case like your opening the packet to access and replace the 9 volt battery.)
